Report on the actions undertaken at the request of the Council of the European Union to adjust the budget deficit following the activation of the excessive deficit procedure for Romania

In recent years, Romania has registered a consumption based economic growth, supported by a pro-cyclical fiscal policy. This has led to the deterioration of external balances and to an inflation level over the average of the countries from the area. Therefore, at the end of 2019, the budget deficit exceeded the 3% ceiling established through the Stability and Growth Pact (SGP).

2020 is marked by the crisis generated by the COVID-19 pandemic, which has affected both internal and external demand. The Government of Romania approved and implemented a series of fiscal and budgetary measures in order to stop the negative effects of the pandemic.

Therefore, the slowing of economic activity, as well as the fiscal policy measures dedicated to fighting the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic, caused an increase of the estimated budget deficit to 8.6% of GDP in 2020.

In this framework, the fiscal and budgetary policy must face significant challenges. On the short-term, budgetary efforts are necessary to mitigate the social and economic effects of the pandemic, while on medium-term the challenge refers to efficient measures to support the economy at the same time as entering a path of adjustment of the budget deficit.

I. Main economic results in the first part of 2020

According to the data published by the National Institute of Statistics (INS), in the first semester of 2020 the Romanian economy registered a 4.6% decrease of the activity volume (provisional data, gross series) compared to the first half of 2019.

On the supply side it can be noted, on the one hand, the significant decrease in the industry (-14.1%) due to the pandemic, as well as that from agriculture (-6.7%) due to the drought, and, on the other hand, the significant increase in the constructions sector, whose gross value added increased by 15.5% compared to the same semester of 2019.
Services registered a balanced decrease of 1.7% compared to the corresponding period of 2019, with an important support from information and communications activities that had a 12.1% increase (and a contribution of 0.7 percentage points to GDP growth), while the area of services rendered to the population (the branch of shows, cultural and recreational activities) had a 29.1% decrease, respectively a negative contribution of 1.1 percentage points to GDP growth.

An important positive signal is given by the fact that gross investments in the economy (gross fixed capital formation - GFCP) registered a 5.8% increase in the first semester (with a 1.8% increase in Q2), having the most important positive contribution to GDP growth, respectively 1.2 percentage points.

Governmental support is also found in the positive influence of Government consumption on the GDP, as well as in the cost mitigation for companies in industrial and service activities. Thus, in the first semester, the effective collective final consumption of the public administration increased by 8.7% compared to the corresponding period of the previous year, having a positive contribution of 0.9 percent to GDP growth.

Although the final consumption of households registered a 5.3% decrease in the first semester of this year, due to the effect of the pandemic on services, the data from July outline an ascending trend of the volume of retail sales and a recovery of household expenses in the second part of the year.

The export of goods and services had a more accentuated decrease in real terms (-15.1%) in the first semester, correlated with the evolution from the industry, while the negative dynamic of the import of goods and services (-9.4%) was more attenuated, being supported by certain elements of domestic demand. These evolutions made net export register a negative contribution to the decrease of gross domestic product of 2.3 percentage points.

With a decrease of 3.9% on GDP seasonally adjusted series in the first half of this year, Romania’s economy had one of the lowest decreases in the EU, along with Lithuania (-0.8%), Bulgaria (-3.0%), Poland (-3.1%), Estonia (-3.3%), Sweden (-3.5%), and Finland (-3.8%), which proves that governmental policies have had a favorable effect of attenuating the shock of the COVID-19 crisis.

In Q2 the decrease was of 10.5%, both on the gross and seasonally adjusted series, as a result of the quite abrupt negative adjustment of FOB export (-33.6% in foreign currency) and of industrial production (-26.8% in volume) on the backdrop of a slowing of international commercial transactions on high added-value branches.

On average, the industrial production volume decreased in the first semester by 16.4% in annual terms, the most vulnerable branches in the context of the pandemic being those of light industry and the industry of capital goods (manufacturing of motor vehicles, machinery, and equipment and manufacturing of electrical equipment). On the whole, the production of capital goods registered the biggest decrease, of 27.1%, compared to the period of January - June 2019, the most affected being the car industry with a 32.7% activity decrease. In the case of the branches of light industry, a continued decline can be noted in recent years, caused by a gradual loss of competitiveness, as well as by a reduction of external demand during the pandemic crisis.

The turnover volume for retail trade increased slightly in the first seven months of 2020 compared to the level registered during the same period of 2019 (+1.2%), due to the increase of food product sales (+7.1%). For non-food products it should be noted the decrease of the sales volume of textiles, clothing, and footwear (-23.2%). Retail trade of fuels decreased in the first 7 months by 9.5%, due to the travel restrictions from the period of April-May.

The turnover volume for market services provided to the population decreased by 38.3%, especially as a result of the decrease in the activity of travel agencies by 47.2%.

Services rendered to enterprises -increased on average by 3.1%, in January - June 2020 as a result of the significant increase in the first quarter (+13.3%). A4.4% decrease in the transport activities must be nonetheless noted in the first semester compared to the corresponding period of 2019 due to the decline of the air transport activity (-58.8%).

The performance of the construction sector is notable in on the backdrop of the pandemic, as the volume of construction works increased by 18.9% in the first semester. On construction objects were noted positive evolutions for all the components in the first half of this year, the most spectacular being for construction engineering (+29.6%), a branch mostly supported by public investments, while on elements of structure the increases were of approximately 50% both in the case of capital repairs and in the case of maintenance and current repair works.

International commercial exchanges strongly constricted in the first 6 months of 2020, due to the pandemic which affected the world and European economy. Exports of goods amounted to 28.6 billion EUR, decreasingd by 18.1% compared to the similar period of the previous year, while imports of goods decreased by 12.6%. Thus, Romania’s trade balance registered a FOB-CIF deficit of 8.7 billion EUR in the first semester, which is 12.1% higher than the deficit in the first semester of 2019.

The average gross salary on the whole economy was of Lei 5,269 in January - June 2020, which is 5.3% higher than the one registered in the corresponding period of 2019.
The average net salary increased by 5.7%, being of Lei 3,224.

The average number of employees (calculated as arithmetic mean of the monthly staff headcount) in the first 6 months of 2020 was of 4,944.1 thousand individuals, which is 0.6% lower than in the same period of 2019.

Registered unemployment at national level followed a descending trend, in spite of the manifestation of the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic. The support measures adopted by the Government of Romania, especially those referring to technical unemployment, allowed the staff to remain employed in the companies, even if the activity of the companies decreased. At the end of June 2020, the number of registered unemployed increased to 260.7 thousand persons, with a rate of registered unemployment of 3.0% (according to the ANOFM's statistical data).

On average, inflation registered a moderate level of 2.86% in the first seven months of 2020, being noted the increase above average for food products (5.12%) and service tariffs (3.3%), while the prices of non-food products increased by only 1.19%.

The extension of the state of alert in Q3 will lead to a slower economic recovery than estimated in the spring forecast, because the resumption of economic activity will not be made at full capacity, on the basis of a lower aggregated demand and of the maintenance of certain restrictions. There will still be activities affected, like restaurants, tourism, passenger transportation, especially air transportation. We are also expecting the processing industry to relaunch according to external demand.

Overall, the risks which could influence the growth projections of this year are severe and interconnected, doubled by a high degree of uncertainty with regard to the occurrence of a second pandemic wave, the absence of a vaccine, the speed of recovery of the main commercial partners, changes in consumer behavior, etc.

The risks on the economic dynamics are mainly of external nature, since Romania’s economy is strongly dependent on the situation of commercial exchanges with the Euro Area for certain high added value industrial activities, like the car sector or the sector of means of transport, machines, and equipment. If the main European commercial partners continue to record significant contractions of their industrial production, the recovery of domestic production will be more difficult, but the unfavorable external effects will be compensated by governmental support.

An additional risk, apart from that induced by the pandemic, is expected from the agricultural sector, due to the persistent drought from the first part of the year, with negative effects mainly on straw crops.

Factors such as sectoral developments in the first half, presented previously, the recovery of the international context below expectations and the extension by 3 additional months of social distancing restrictions, compared to the hypothesis from the spring forecast, imposed the revision of the economic growth scenario.

The cumulated action of the aforementioned factors will cause a decrease of economic activity in the second half, resulting in downward revision of GDP growth by about 2 percentage points in 2020, compared to the spring forecast. Thus, based on current assumptions, a real GDP decline of 3.8% is expected for 2020.

However, the measures adopted by the Government to support companies and employees affected by the pandemic have a mitigating effect on both the number of employees and the average gross earnings.

II. Fiscal and budgetary policy of 2020

The budgetary plan of 2020 was based on the following objectives:

1. Supporting smart, sustainable and inclusive economic growth, through efficient use of production factors, productivity increase and starting sustainable investments;

2. Creating fiscal space for allocation in order to support major public investments and implementing projects financed from European funds, with multiplier effect and direct contribution to gross fixed capital formation;

- The need to correlate budget planning with the forecasted developments of macroeconomic indicators in the context of the COVID-19 pandemic effects. The estimated economic contraction was of 1.9% for 2020, which leads, given a GDP deflator of 4.1%, to a nominal value of the gross domestic product of 1,082.1 billion Lei, compared to 1,129.2 billion Lei which was considered for the initial budget.

- The need to ensure in the budget the amounts that correspond to the implementation of the measures taken for the purpose of preventing the spread of the virus and mitigating the negative effects thereof.

According to the second 2020 budget rectification, the total revenues are estimated at 32.3% of GDP, while the total expenditures represent 40.9% of GDP, leading to a target deficit of 8.6% of GDP (in cash terms), corresponding to a 8.61% of GDP deficit (in ESA terms) and a structural deficit of 5.79% of GDP.

The total revenues of the domestic economy decrease by RON 7.8 billion (0.7% of GDP), being offset by the increase of the non-reimbursable EU funds by RON 8.5 billion (0.8% of GDP). Thus, the total revenues slightly increase by RON 0.9 billion (0.1% of GDP).
GDP). At the same time, the total expenditures are supplemented by RON 19.4 billion (1.8% of GDP), representing the main driver of the budget deficit deepening.

A larger deficit (+ 5 pp) compared to the initial target established in accordance to the Fiscal Strategy 2020-2022 (3.6% of GDP) is mainly explained by the contraction of economic activity in the most affected sectors by the pandemic, as well as due to higher social expenditures and fiscal facilities.

III. The budget execution in the first 7 months of 2020

General government budget recorded a deficit of RON 49.68 billion (4.7% of GDP) in the first seven months of 2020.

Part of the deficit, namely RON 27.01 billion (2.55% of GDP) corresponds to fiscal facilities – amounts left in the economy to support private companies’ liquidity, investment and extraordinary expenditures to limit the spread of the virus.

A larger deficit compared to the similar period of last year is mainly explained, on the revenues side, by (i) the unfavorable total revenues’ dynamics during March - July due to the economic downturn, but also as a consequence of payment deferral (RON 12.5 billion), (ii) higher VAT reimbursement to support private companies’ liquidity (RON +3.05 billion compared to the first seven months of 2019), (iii) discounts applied on CIT and on tax on micro-enterprises’ revenues (RON 0.25 billion).

Also, on the expenditure side, beside the increase resulted from applying the current legislation, investment rose by RON 4.61 billion compared to the first seven months of 2019, while extraordinary Covid-19 related payments totaled RON ~6.56 billion.

Total revenue amounted to RON 175.15 billion in the first seven months of 2020, down by 2.7% compared to the similar period of last year. As a percentage of GDP forecast, the total revenues decreased by 0.4 pp (yoy), mainly due to a contraction of net VAT receipts (higher VAT reimbursement and payment deferral) and a decline of non-tax revenues.

Whilst the total revenue registered a favorable evolution in June\(^1\), it turned negative again in July (-8.1% yoy), mainly due to the economic downturn and the expansion of fiscal facilities\(^2\). Besides, the severe contraction of economic activity in Q2 (-10.5% yoy) affected the revenues dynamics during April - July. In addition, fiscal facilities granted in \(^1\) 30\(^{th}\) of June 2020 was the deadline for certain tax payment postponed during March – May.

\(^2\) GEO no. 99/2020
the current context have led to an increased volatility of monthly revenues over this period.

Total expenditure reached RON 224.83 billion in the first seven months of 2020, advancing by 13.4% compared to the corresponding period of the previous year. As a percentage of GDP forecast, total expenditure increased by 2.5 pp, from 18.7% in 2019 to 21.3% in 2020. This increase is also explained by the measures adopted to limit the spread of the virus, and on the other hand, by discretionary measures adopted to mitigate the negative impact on the economic activity.

Thus, RON 3.94 billion were paid in the first seven months of 2020 for technical unemployment benefits, RON 785.7 million for other categories of professionals and for those with an individual employment agreement that were forced to stop their activity in the context of the state of emergency, and RON 66.8 million for allowances to parents in order to supervise their children during the temporary closure of educational institutions.

Investment, which include capital expenditure and spending related to development programs financed from domestic and external sources, amounted to RON 20.41 billion in the first seven months of 2020, recording the peak of the last 10 years (for the cumulative seven months’ period).
